Foreword

THE purpose of the publication of this annual is to preserve a record of the pupils, faculty, and activities of this school as they are today. We want a record that will never grow old; pictures of students and teachers as they are on the day when we are graduated. Their faces will grow older but this annual will keep their memories the same. If we succeed in any small way in accomplishing this purpose, we shall feel that we have made a success. Therefore, with pleasure, we, the Seniors of 1937 and the staff of HI-WAYS, present our

The Senior Class Creed

WE, THE Senior Class of Wadesboro High School, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred thirty-seven, do believe that a high school education is of the highest importance to an individual and that in order to procure the greatest possible benefits from such a high school education we must co-operate to the best of our individual ability with our teachers, our superintendent, and our class mates. We believe that the academic course of study is of primary importance, but that extra-curricular activities are highly beneficial.

We believe that, as Seniors, we should set the precedent in good behavior, good sportsmanship and right attitude, and be above reproach in keeping all our high school rules and regulations.

We believe that inasmuch as athletics strengthen the body and stimulate the brain they should be included in our high school course.

We believe that in high school we should develop and train ourselves in the principles of straight thinking, strength of character, and temperance in all things, so that upon graduation we shall be better fitted to live full, righteous lives as citizens of the United States or of any other country in which our lot may be cast.

WADESBORO HIGH SCHOOL

*What peaceful hours I once enjoyed!
How sweet their memories still!
But they have left an aching void
The world can never fill.*

—Comper.

DEDICATION

WE lovingly dedicate this edition of Hi-WAYS to our wise counselor, our thoughtful leader, and our sympathetic friend—

MARTHA CORNELIA AUSTIN

To The Class of 1937

FOR this honor which you have so graciously shown me,
I wish to express my sincere appreciation and thanks.

To have been with you daily, to have shared some of your joys and sorrows, and to have helped you somewhat in smoothing out some rough places have been for me a great pleasure. I hope that I have been able to do something to help each of you live a richer, fuller, and more useful life.

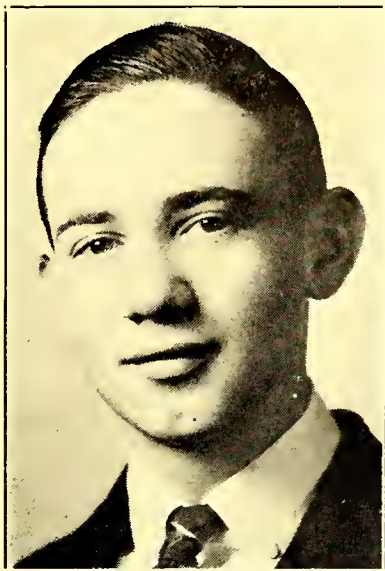

For each member of this class, I wish a long, happy, and prosperous lifetime. May your memories of a happy past and your anticipations of a joyous future be with you as long as life shall last.

—MARTHA CORNELIA AUSTIN.

CLASS SONG

Tune of "Little Old Lady"

I.

*Dear old High school we must part,
Always keep us in your heart;
Don't forget our days together
Pleasant from the start.*

II.

*Tho' we've had to study more—
Maybe books are our pet bore,
But we'll drink a toast to school days
As in days of yore.*

III.

*You're never let us fall,
Our home has been your hall,
We've climbed your steps each morn for years,
dear,
Loved you one and all.*

IV.

*We will want to come to you
When we're lonely, sad and blue.
Thanks, old pal, you've been so faithful
Now we'll say adieu.*

—JULIA ANNE BEVERLY.

CLASS POEM

We are leaving our Hi-ways, Seniors,
We're on the road to fame,
But there are many by-ways, Seniors,
We must not leave the lane!

The road is long and rough, Seniors,
And full of storm and strife,
So we must be tough, Seniors,
To brave the tide of life!

The hills are high and steep, Seniors,
The valleys deep and dark,
We must not pause to weep, Seniors,
But sing as gay as a lark!

There are places of sleep, Seniors,
To rest your weary head,
But the hill is not too steep, Seniors,
Climb to the top instead!

The top is high above, Seniors,
But there the glory lies,
There the everlasting love, Seniors.
For which one lives and dies!

—NORMA TAYLOR.

EFFIE LAMBETH ALLEN

Our hats are off to the outstanding member of the Senior Class, Effie Allen. Probably the greatest honor ever bestowed upon our school, and as great as could be, was brought on by this student. In winning the statewide Goodwill Pilgrimage to Washington, sponsored by the D. A. R., Effie's qualities were recognized and honored. Sincere, patriotic, energetic, friendly, courteous, and a thousand other adjectives are too few to describe her. We thank you, Effie, for the honor you have brought upon us all and we are assured of your future success.

Class History

CHAPTER I

Time does not dim the memory of eleven years ago, when a group of youngsters, with their devoted parents, started on the journey of their education.

Mrs. Joe. M. Liles and Miss Mary Plunkett led us with much patience and care over the first road of our education. We remember with great pleasure the good times we had at recess riding on the merry-go-round, but when Mrs. Liles would ring her little bell we were all ready to go in again. Miss Mabelle Nall, Miss Dorothy Fetzer, and Miss Elizabeth Webb led us on the second road. Here we learned more about what our education would mean to us. We then went to the third grade and had as our devoted teachers Mrs. Elinor Gray, Miss Julia Cameron and again Miss Dorothy Fetzer, who had half-second and half-third grades. Miss Nannie Gullledge and Miss Inez Crowder led us over the fourth road. Miss Coon was our writing teacher during these years. After finishing these four years we felt very big indeed because now we were allowed to go to the High School Building, but we hated to leave the old building in which we had had so many good times.

CHAPTER II

How thrilled we were when we became Junior High Students, because soon we knew that we would be in high school, and this is what we had always looked forward to. Miss Kate Leak and Miss Ann Le-Sturgeon led us over the fifth road, and again Miss Coon taught us writing. On the sixth road we were very sad because our superintendent, Mr. J. H. McIver, left us; but he was replaced by Mr. Frank R. Richardson. That year our teachers were Miss Pauline Pinkston, Miss Edith Kimsey, Miss Lillian Cunningham, and Mr. Mac H. Johnston. Miss Pinkston, Miss Cunningham, Miss Dora Little, and Mr. Alton G. Saddler led us on over the seventh road. We were all very thrilled and excited over graduation, when we finished the seventh grade. We felt as big as High School Seniors when we walked across the stage and received our diplomas.

We did not care how much we were teased, or how hard we had to work now because we were Freshmen in High School. On this eighth road our course of education was very different from any we had had. We had athletics, clubs, and we could take almost any subjects we wanted to. On this road we had a different teacher for every subject. The teachers were Miss Blanche B. Hanff, Miss Minnie Hollowell, Miss Frances James, Mrs. Harry Covington, Miss Margaret Stallings, and

Mr. M. D. Caddell. The marshals were Hazel Kiker and Bill McKinnon.

Indeed, we felt big when we became Sophomores in school. Our teachers were Miss Katharine Hilliard, Miss Frances Stansell, Miss Minnie Hollowell, Miss Elizabeth Redwine, Mr. Sam Bass, and Mr. M. D. Caddell. Two of the best times we had during our Sophomore year were raising money for the debaters to go to Chapel Hill and giving the Seniors a party. We all enjoyed these very much. The marshals for this year were Hazel Kiker, Joe Liles, and Bill McKinnon.

Our journey along the tenth road was indeed an exciting one. Our teachers were Miss Corinne Jones, Miss Martha Austin, Miss Frances Stansell, Mrs. Sarah H. Edmunds, Miss Lou Pitts, Miss Louise Bennett, Miss Margaret Abbitt, Mrs. F. A. Huntley, Mr. M. D. Caddell and Mr. George B. Snuggs. After half of that year was over we were made sad by the leaving of our Superintendent, Mr. F. R. Richardson; but after he left us, Mr. Caddell became Superintendent and Mr. Snuggs, Principal. The most exciting happening of this year was the Junior-Senior Banquet, which we all enjoyed very much. Other outstanding things were the Junior Stunt Night and getting our High School rings. Our marshals were Hazel Kiker, Thomas Ena Gandy and Joe Liles. After we had finished this road we realized we would soon be under the title of "Dignified Seniors", which now we are, and are enjoying very much.

Even though this is our last year it is in many ways the best year of all. Miss Martha Austin is our very devoted Home Room teacher. We are also very honored this year to have with us a new Superintendent, Mr. V. W. Lewis, who has been a great friend to each of us. Mr. Snuggs remains our Principal, and our other new teachers are Miss Estelle Boles, Mrs. T. V. Meyers, and Mr. S. A. Thomas. We were very sad when we learned that Margaret Hamaker, who had been a member of our class for the other ten years, was to leave us. We enjoyed the many parties given us and especially did we enjoy the Junior-Senior Banquet, given us by the Juniors. We are very proud this year of our annual, Hi-Ways.

Now, we have finished our High School education, and as we start out for a higher education and higher things in life, may we be able to attain each of them. We will never forget the happy and successful days that we have spent in the Wadesboro School.

EFFIE ALLEN, Historian.

Class Prophecy

I have just returned from a trip to the Orient. Strange as it may seem, as I was exploring in Shanghai, I met a group of friends who were investigating the slums of Shanghai. While wandering in one of the lowest types of dives in the city, the other members of the party dared me to smoke a pipeful of opium. After a few puffs, I drifted into oblivion

As I was rushing to New York from Hollywood, who should be the pilots of the giant Comet Clipper but Jack Covington and Edward Gulledge? Another pleasant surprise was the discovery of the stewardess to be my former classmate, Norma Taylor. When we stopped in Reno to refuel, the operator of the gas station at the airport was Bobbie Beachum; Bruce Faulkner was his chief mechanic.

At Reno, Miss May Rose Gathings, the latest movie sensation, boarded the Clipper. She had just obtained a divorce from her fifth husband, Wells Ross. Her former husbands were Robert Earl Underwood, Stokes Manship, John Ingram, and Francis Boylin. Among her attendants were Janie Kate Maxwell, her secretary; Bill McKinnon, her press agent; Frankie Gray, her personal maid; and Harry Hodges, her latest "crush."

Another passenger was Miss Julia Anne Beverly, who was going to New York to be a model in a most exclusive shop, owned by Elizabeth Hanna. Partners in Miss Hanna's shop were Laura Brower and Louise Watson. Their chief designers were Eunice Johnson, Edna Hough, and Rena Belle Howell.

Reaching New York, I stopped at the Astorbilt Hotel, owned and operated by Melvin Burns and Clifton Lineberry, with Joe Liles as headwaiter. The featured entertainers were Jane Dunlap and David Blalock, dancing partners.

I went to a musical comedy with Mary Ella Blackwelder and Sylbia Thompson as singing stars. The songs were written by Rosalind Redfearn. The dance directors for this successful show were John Crawford and Clayton Gaddy. The costume designers were Johnsie Mae Hyatt and Jane Lowe. Carlene McRoy was the starring comedienne.

Drifting from New York, I went to Gaiety College headed by Dean Effie Allen. Martha Eller was the instructor of English, with Louise Scarboro as her private secretary. Thomas Ena Gandy was the French instructor. Agnes Hildreth was head of the Physical Education department. Over at Yale, Rone Lowe was the very successful football coach, with Lee Michael as his able assistant.

Drifting to the South, at Palm Beach, Brown Huntley was proprietor of the Palm Beach Casino; Robert Brigman handled all his affairs. Adeline Allen and Pauline Meeks were the featured entertainers. In Miami, Mildred Winfree was the governess of the children of Mayor Robert Trexler. Also in Miami, Buck Burns was the manager of the bus terminal.

Going farther South to Havana, Hazel Kiker was the owner of a large department store, with Harold Blackwelder as the manager.

Sailing from Havana on the liner "Skeeter", I discovered the captain to be Marvin Murray. As I glided over the smooth waters, a summer squall arose. After being dashed around a few minutes, suddenly everything was calm. I awoke to find myself in the dingy dive in Shanghai instead of on an ocean liner, and all of this had been an outlandish dream.

EMMA LEE BALLARD, Class Prophet.

Last Will and Testament

HEAR YE, Hear Ye! To all whom this may concern. Ye class of '37, of ye town of Wadesboro, of ye Wadesboro High School, after four years or more under close supervision in ye aforesaid institution, notwithstanding food from the school store, semi-annual examinations, and periodic dashes for ye classes, is about to be discharged as being sound of mind and body, and herewith makes and executes its last will and testament in ye following manner:

ARTICLE I

To Mr. Lewis, our most kindhearted and thoughtful superintendent, who has eternally been coaxing and driving us toward our goal, (ye Diploma) we hereby will enough of the vast wealth, which hath accumulated during our stay, toward buying for him an insurance policy, in case some day he suddenly finds himself with ye schoolhouse full of ye so-called model students and without anybody to worry about.

ARTICLE II

To Mr. Snuggs, our beloved and respected principal, we offer whole-hearted gratitude in appreciation of interest taken in us not only as a class but as individuals, and his special effort to lend support in all our undertakings. We provide that he be allowed to flirt with ye sophomore girls in the school store at all times, but, however, only while he is within the boundaries of ye above-mentioned delicatessen shoppe.

ARTICLE III

To ye class of '38, we bequeath the right to occupy ye front seats in ye chapel. Also to ye aforesaid class, we leave certain dignified characteristics in carriage and manner and also ye sole privilege of descending ye front steps at recess.

ARTICLE IV

To ye sophomore class we leave (by request of ye Junior Class) the unquestionable right to fight and squabble among yourselves over the confronting problems of ye next Junior-Senior Banquet.

ARTICLE V

To ye freshman class we bequeath the anticipation of ye day when ye financial conditions of ye state will permit a nine months school.

ARTICLE VI

To any of ye who want it we bequeath whatever you want.

ARTICLE VII

Ye following seniors have bequeathed ye following characteristics to ye following members of ye class of '38 and others:

I, Julia Ann Beverly, bequeath my beauty, which is genuine and not mostly make-up, to Melba Catewood.

I, Johnie Ingram, bequeath my handsome countenance to John Thomas.

I, Lee Michael, do bequeath my ability to make untimely wisecracks and uncalled for "breaks" on class to Rowland Pruette.

I, Rone Lowe, bequeath my popularity with ye women to Robert Hough.

I, Mae Rose Cathings, bequeath my flirtatious actions and also my conceit to Isabelle Underwood.

I, Joe Liles, bequeath my dependability to Carl Lyon.

I, Bill McKinnon, bequeath my responsibility as the "black sheep" of the family to my younger brother, Walter McKinnon.

I, Mildred Winfree, bequeath my sincerity to Robert Huntley.

I, Jane Dunlap, bequeath the rush I get at all ye dances to Nancy Cathings.

I, Harry Hodges, bequeath my Shirley Temple hair and my curling irons to Alva Beachum.

I, Stokes Manship, bequeath my position on ye football squad to Bobby Huntley.

I, Edward Culledge, bequeath my bashfulness while around members of ye weaker sex, to Bill Hodges.

I, Robert Brigman, bequeath my dignity to Bill Hightower.

I, Carlene McRoy, bequeath my ability to "shoot bull" to Mabel Huntley.

I, Robert Earl Underwood, bequeath my weakness for red-headed sophomores to James Clark.

I, Effie Allen, bequeath my ambition to Ann Alford Morris.

I, John Crawford, bequeath my honor as the best dressed Senior to John Wilson McLaurin.

I, Wells Ross, bequeath my ability as official pest and mischief-maker to my brother James Ross.

I, Thomas Ena Candy, bequeath my honor as man-hater to Lou Hardison.

I, Frances Cray, bequeath my personality to Marion Rogers.

I, Buck Burns, bequeath my appetite and buxom figure to Philip Carris.

I, Jack Covington, bequeath my long and honest record as class treasurer to Buddy Taylor.

I, Iarold Blackwelder, bequeath my "slew feet" and also my "turkey trot" to "Scip" Whisnant.

I, Bruce Faulkner, bequeath my tenor voice to anyone who wishes to sing in ye typing period.

I, Hazel Kiker, bequeath my report card to William Harry Odom.

I, Francis Boylan, bequeath my large and troublesome "snuzzle" to Jimmy Durante.

I, Marvin Murray, bequeath my height to Beverly Rose.

I, Emma Lee Ballard, bequeath my wit to Flora Ann Brock.

I, Bobby Beachum, bequeath the school to my pack of younger brothers and leave it entirely in their hands.

I, Mary Blackwelder, bequeath my brother, Harold, to anyone who will have him.

I, Laura Brower, bequeath my technique for running into everybody in ye hall to Leakie Wyatt.

I, Melvin Burns, bequeath my friendliness to William Brower.

I, Martha Eller, bequeath my ability to get on ye good side of ye teachers to Cene Winfree.

I, Clayton Caddy, bequeath my grouchy attitude to Charles Hildreth.

I, Elizabeth Hanna, bequeath my cave woman strength to ye football team.

I, Agnes Hildreth, bequeath my car to be used as an additional school bus.

I, Edna Hough, bequeath my bashfulness to Edith Odom.

I, Rena Belle Howell, bequeath my strut to Miss Stansell.

I, Brown Huntley, bequeath my astounding reputation as a brag to Henry Benton.

I, Johnsie Mae Hyatt, bequeath my younger brother to the school to be used as permanent mascot.

I, Eunice Johnson, bequeath my black hair to Mildred Haire.

I, Clifton Lineberry, bequeath my commercial ability to Clayton, my brother.

I, Jane Lowe, bequeath my neatness to Meta Lewis.

I, Janie Kate Maxwell, bequeath my place in Buck Burns's car to Edna Bowman.

I, Pauline Meeks, bequeath my "kinky" hair to my sister, Johnsie.

I, Rosalind Redfearn, bequeath my charm to Mararuth Allen.

I, Louise Scarborough, bequeath my lack of growth to Helen Walters.

I, Norma Taylor, bequeath my talent to Corneille Caraway.

I, Sylbia Thompson, bequeath my laugh to John Thompson, my brother.

I, Robert Trexler, bequeath my absences from school to Harold Benton.

I, Louise Watson, bequeath my good behavior on class to William Brower.

I, Adeline Allen, bequeath my quiet behavior to Fred Mills.

I hereunto set my hand and seal, this, the seventeenth day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven.

DAVID BLALOCK, Testator.
